For the second time in three years Suddath receives Expatriate Management & Mobility Award from The Forum for Expatriate Management

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA, USA, October 24, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Suddath® is pleased to announce we have won our second Expatriate Management & Mobility Award (EMMA) in the "International Mover of the Year" category showing continued excellence in the global arena of household goods relocation.

This is the third year in a row Suddath has received an award in this category as the winner in both 2014 and 2012 and runner-up in 2013. The Forum for Expatriate Management (FEM), a global group comprised of industry mobility professionals, chose Suddath as the recipient out of a total of ten finalists in the category. More than 1,000 nominations were received from around the world in all categories. Peter Bowsher, vice president of global sales, accepted the award on behalf of Suddath during the awards gala at the annual Americas Global Mobility Summit in Orlando, Florida.

This year's judges, both clients and peers, stated that, "Suddath presented impressive innovations as well as an updated moving app bringing them ahead of the competition." Similarly in 2012, the judges' comments stated, "Suddath has a broad global presence and are masters at managing their worldwide network of movers."

"We are honored to receive this continued recognition from industry peers," states Steve Crooks, president of Suddath International, "as it further demonstrates our commitment to "Setting the Standard for Moving the World®."
