Local author Eileen Rohr recently teamed up with Tate Publishing to kick-start the publication process of her new book, What Love Sees.

What Love Sees is an inspiring memoir of Rohr's experience with physically and intellectually challenged people and how it changed her perspective in life.

Being a mother of an adoptive son was what prompted Eileen to publish What Love Sees. "There is great societal pressure to look at a person who is judged as incompetent and then to question the value or 'quality' in their lives," shares Eileen.

"What Love Sees is an insightful and touching write-up by Eileen Rohr. We are proud to be working with such a talented author," shares Shannon Lloyd, Acquisitions Editor for Tate Publishing.

"I had been searching for a publisher that had Christian values. I believe that Tate Publishing understands that human life has a divine spark. I want to express the truth that God is the author of life and I wanted a publisher who also respects that truth," states Rohr when asked about her decision to sign up with Tate.

Published by Tate Publishing and Enterprises, the book will be available upon its release, through bookstores nationwide, from the publisher at www.tatepublishing.com/bookstore, or by visiting barnesandnoble.com or amazon.com.

Eileen Rohr has a degree in Nursing and Psychology to support her attempt in educating herself about physically and mentally challenged individuals. Eileen eventually decided to foster and adopt a child who had special needs and is now a proud mother of Mohammed. It is this relationship with Mohammed that compelled her to tell her story.
