Local author Wanda Spears has recently teamed up with Tate Publishing to kick-start the publication process of the two books in her Timeless Memories Books Collection: My Handprints and Bedtime Song.

Spears' Timeless Memories Book Collection is a compilation of everlasting memories that can be kept, shared, and treasured in each and every family.

"Today, we no longer have memories that we treasure, and that can be handed down through our children for generations to come. All the memories that I have of my grandmother are in my head. We need to have kind and loving stories read to our children... something that makes them feel good about themselves and good inside... something that comes from that special person or persons who treasure and love them," shares Wanda.

"Spears' timeless book collection is a compilation of interactive, colorful, and memorable pieces that capture special moments and can be shared and cherished for generations to come and make each and every unique child feel special!" states Raimie McDaniel, Acquisitions Editor for Tate Publishing.
