The time has come for new thinking in internet security software and DayZero Systems has stepped up to the challenge. SigFree Cerberus v1.0 is the first in an arsenal of future signature-free applications to be released by DayZero Systems, the new leader in zero day threat protection. Cerberus does not protect computer systems from every type of malware. DayZero still recommends continued regular scans using Windows Security Essentials or, on Windows 8, use of Windows Defender.

“

SigFree Cerberus detected and contained the new virus immediately while Virus Total reported that only 1 out of 51 other security programs could detect this same virus.
