An epic fantasy adventure, Cardines' book takes you to a magical world of vampires and the discovery of a war torn world.

"I was born and raised in Hawaii, to a family where work was important above all else, and discipline was a close second. There was no room for imagination or self expression. So, I put my creativity aside and restrained my self expression... the loss of my father-in-law crushed our world. During the hard times that followed, the love and support of the family carried us through. It was this unwavering strength that inspired me to pick up a pen, and express myself freely," shares Cardines.

“

Cardines has shared with us this rattling adventure story and takes us on a spinning delightful adventure of magic and vampires.
