MADISON , ALA. -- , UNITED STATES, November 27, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MADISON, Ala. -- Local author Ray Hensley has teamed-up with Tate Publishing for the publication of his new book, "The C.R.A.C.K.".

Based on a story of capturing, obliterating a group of outer space pirates, "The C.R.A.C.K." takes readers on a quest into space warriors fighting to stop the tyranny.

"I have loved science fiction as far back as I can remember. Outer space is and always has been a place of mystery and intrigue. [There is] so much unknown out there. I have never believed we are alone in this galaxy. 'The C.R.A.C.K.' is a book that is set in the not-so-distant future and reveals a story that you can believe in. [It's] not blood and guts, nor weird monsters -- but real things, with real characters living out their lives or trying to," shares Hensley.

“

Hensley shows us a story of struggle, desperation, bonding, and giving your all towards a common goal for mankind.

Shannon Lloyd, Acquisitions Editor

"We are delighted to be partnering with such a promising author. Hensley shows us a story of struggle, desperation, bonding, and giving your all towards a common goal for mankind," states Acquisitions Editor for Tate Publishing, Shannon Lloyd.

Referencing to his Chickasaw heritage, Hensley adds that "I have touched a lot of the world in my career and many of those experiences are recounted in the books I write. I am a registered Chickasaw American Indian and wear my heritage proudly. Indians of old were story tellers as it was their source of entertainment. I consider myself as a story teller and enjoy doing the job."

Published by Tate Publishing and Enterprises, the book will be available upon its release, through bookstores nationwide, from the publisher at www.tatepublishing.com/bookstore, or by visiting barnesandnoble.com or amazon.com.
