

Private Expeditions Voted A Winner In British Travel Awards 2014

Private Expeditions, based in Staffordshire, has been voted as one of the Best Activity/Sports Holiday Company at the British Travel Awards 2014.

LONDON, UK, December 10, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jane Deakin, Managing Director of Private Expeditions said, "We are delighted to receive this award and would like to thank everyone who has voted for us. For 2015 we are launching many new, exciting routes to appeal to trekkers of all abilities and experience levels but who have one thing in common, they are all keen to push their limits one step beyond, whatever their age or fitness. As experts in each of our destinations we are continuously introducing improvements to enhance the overall experience so that customers can relax knowing they are in safe hands and enjoy the journey. We know that the type of trips that we organise are not just holidays, but are life changing experiences and so we work hard to make sure that's exactly what we deliver every time."

Private Expeditions specializes in high altitude trekking adventures to some of the world's most iconic "bucket list" destinations, such as Kilimanjaro in Tanzania, Everest Base Camp in Nepal and Machu Picchu in Peru. "Having our own hand-picked guide teams in each country really does ensure that we can consistently operate to the highest standards. This, together with fact, that we are specialists' means that we can give first-hand and first rate advice to help customers plan their perfect trip," comments Jane.

British Travel Awards' chief executive Lorraine Barnes Burton said: "It was another record breaking year for British Travel Awards' consumer voting, with more than one and a quarter million votes cast to determine the winners of the 143 Awards – no other awards programme in the UK comes near this staggering amount. All BTA winners are to be congratulated for getting the most votes in their categories, no mean feat as the voting public has become increasingly discerning and expects the best customer service. The winning companies can now proudly display the BTA winners' logo, a benchmark recognized by the travelling public as the sign of excellence."

The British Travel Awards is a proudly independent organisation, verified by leading global accountancy practitioners Deloitte.
