

SubmitAndForget.com to Revolutionize Cyber Shopping With Manual Online Product Comparison

Free Online Shopping Comparison Service Launched Cyber Monday

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, December 28, 2014 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Online shopping will be forever changed with the launch of Submit and Forget.com. This new online shopping comparison service launched on Cyber Monday – December 1, 2014.

We are so excited to be launching this valuable and unique service just in time for the holiday shopping season.

Ian Pribyl, CEO of Submit and Forget.com

SubmitAnd Forget.com is not a computer program – it is made up of a professional staff comprehensively trained in online shopping that are physically in front of their computers, manually comparing all relevant products. This “human touch” promises to find the very best prices online by doing all of the research for the user and comparing prices on products that are requested by users. The service lives up to its name by making online shopping fast and easy. The user simply fills out an online questionnaire – which takes less than five minutes – then submits their request and forgets it. Gone are the days of spending hours researching, Googling and comparing prices.

Submit and Forget.com has real, live staff members doing all of the research for you – not robots or automated systems - so requests receive a personal touch. Within 24 hours of hitting the submit button, users will receive an email with a minimum of three suggested products, along with the links to the retailers that are offering them for the absolute lowest prices. The staff members read all of the product reviews in order to identify the best products offered within the specific category, and then begin the task of comparing all options from different sites in order to identify the best options that will meet the user’s specific needs.

Products researched are limited to those that users would purchase online and have shipped to their home with a minimum value of $50 – items such as cars and large appliances would not be searchable. What makes Submit and Forget.com unique, and a win-win for both user and retailer, is that the company is only compensated by the online retailer when customers actually purchase a recommended item.

“We are so excited to be launching this valuable and unique service just in time for the holiday shopping season,” said Ian Pribyl, CEO of Submit and Forget.com. “People have enough to do in their busy lives rather than spending hours researching products – so we want to let them get back to their lives and do the leg work for them. If people are looking for the best quality, highest reviewed and lowest priced products available, then let Submit and Forget.com work for you.”
