

A Home for the Holidays EquityBuild Donates House to Another Chance Baptist Church,

Giving Back to Chicago Community;

All Funds from Sold Property Will Be Donated to Feed the Poor

CHICAGO, IL, USA, December 24, 2014

/EINPresswire.com/ -- EquityBuild, Inc. announces the donation of a house today in Chicago's West Pullman neighborhood to Another Chance Baptist Church as part of its community relations program and commitment to giving back. EquityBuild, Inc. is proud to support Another Chance Baptist Church to help address chronic inner city unemployment while providing job training in Chicago. Another Chance will employ local unemployed tradesmen for the rehab of this home and also use the project to train workers. Funds from the sale of the rehab property will go to feed the poor.

Jerry Cohen, EquityBuild, Inc. Founder and CEO, says, "We are excited and honored to support Another Chance Baptist Church by donating this house. Chicago is a market that EquityBuild has worked extensively in for over five years and we are happy to give back to the community. This is something that is incredibly important to our investors and entire team. Taking action and looking at ways to help one another is the essence of the Holidays."

Jerry Cohen continues, "EquityBuild brings unparalleled investment opportunities and affordable housing solutions to the Chicago real estate market. This donation is an extension of a companywide philosophy of giving back and supporting the communities in which we operate."

Pastor Kenyatta Smith of Another Chance Baptist Church states, "We thank Mr. Cohen and the EquityBuild family for supporting our efforts by donating this property, it will help us further our work in the community, as well as help keep over 25 families employed this Christmas."

The EquityBuild turn-key model identifies local distressed properties and then combines real estate expertise to facilitate neighborhood investment and revitalization for owners, investors and tenants.

"Championing a free market solution to help address inner city unemployment, support job training, and build Chicago's communities is a core value of EquityBuild both on a professional and personal level for all of us," says EquityBuild Finance's President Shaun Cohen. "We firmly believe the private sector provides the most reliable road to an enduring U.S. economic recovery. EquityBuild meets these economic and social challenges by sparking new pockets of prosperity through real estate investment and expertise which also alters urban blight and empowers people."

Pastor Smith continues, "We are most appreciative for this property, it's a "right on time blessing" as we prepare for our fundraising campaign to help renovate our new building that was donated with help from the City of Chicago. In our new community center we will continue to build and expand our workforce development program and our free summer camp, as well as house our school." Pastor Smith summarizes by explaining, "This new community center will allow us to serve thousands instead of hundreds! "

EquityBuild's philosophy is to educate and empower our clients to build wealth through real estate with our low risk, high return turn-key model. At the same time, we provide a unique opportunity for investors to make maximum profit while also doing tangible social good, by offering comfortable homes and offices in areas often neglected. We call it Rebuilding America. Time after time, when EquityBuild comes into a neighborhood, residents start taking greater pride in and greater care of where they live. EquityBuild investors do well by doing good.
