GLENN LEONARD, former Temptations lead vocalist, enjoyed a long, illustrious career as the first tenor and lead singer of the Tempts from 1975-1983. Glenn sang on 10 albums with the Motown legends and appeared on dozens of television specials worldwide. Glenn's voice is the one you hear each year on the radio singing the Christmas staple "Silent Night" from the Temptations' classic Christmas album. Glenn re-recorded "Silent Night" as a vocally powerful duet with Landau on

Murphy's "Christmas Made for Two" CD.

Glenn was a featured performer on the hugely successful Temptations' "Reunion" tour and album, sharing the stage and recording with the likes of Eddie Kendricks, David Ruffin, Dennis Edwards, Richard Street, Otis Williams, and Melvin Franklin. He is a proud 2013 inductee into the R&B Music Hall of Fame.

Landau and Glenn will also be available after the show to meet with fans, pose for photos, autograph memorabilia, and spread New Years cheer.
