

KETTLER USA to Introduce New John Deere Toys at 2015 Toy Fair

Leisure and fitness equipment manufacturer to premier new Trikes, and licensed John Deere products at the annual show.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA, USA, January 28, 2015
/EINPresswire.com/ -- KETTLER USA has announced they will be displaying their product at the upcoming 2015 North American International Toy Fair. The annual toy and youth product exhibition will take place February 14th through the 17th at the Jacob K. Javits Convention Center in New York City. The leading manufacturer in kid's toys and bicycles will showcase a number of new toys including its new John Deere line at the event.

"We are proud to bring this iconic brand to our family of new exciting products," said Matthew Cox, Marketing Manager of KETTLER USA. "All John Deere toys and our new trikes will be available for purchase this spring."

The new licensed line features three and four wheel children's pedal tractors modeled after the classic John Deere equipment. Toys in this collection range in use for children from ages two to ten. All items include high impact molded resin body, long-lasting oversized resin tires with tread and adjustable seats to grow with your child. The realistic and functional tractors come in seven different models, all including working accessories such as removable hauling trailers, front loaders, and front lifting hood.

Two new trikes, the Top Trike Fly and Top Trike Stella, will also debut at the New York show. The German Engineered trikes feature a four position adjustable seat for easy adjustments and portability, removable sand toy bucket, patented control, and limited turn radius steering for stability. These and many other new toys, trikes, and outdoor equipment will be available for purchase through KETTLER USA's website and its distributors this spring.
