Free webinar: Using international standards to improve EU cyber security

IT Governance, the global provider of cyber security products and services, is going to address the cyber security issues EU businesses face in a free webinar.

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM, February 17, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The EU Networking and Information Security (NIS) Directive and the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) will both be finalised this year and enforced from 2017, yet 80% of organisations polled for a recent FireEye study revealed that they had not put the appropriate cyber security measures in place to meet the forthcoming laws' requirements.

Failure to have appropriate measures in place to address data security could result in fines of up to €100 million in the event of a data breach.

IT Governance, the global provider of cyber security products and services, is going to address the cyber security issues EU businesses face in a free webinar:

Join IT Governance on 19 March 2015, when cyber security expert Alan Calder – the founder and executive chairman of IT Governance – will take you through:

•The current cyber threat.
Understand the risk that insufficient processes, inadequate technology, malicious hackers and a lack of staff awareness pose to your business, with case studies of recent high-profile data breaches.

•Proposed EU legislation.
Learn more about the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the Network and Information Security (NIS) Directive, and what you need to do to meet your legal obligations.

•International standards.
Discover how implementing the internationally recognised cyber security standard, ISO 27001, will help get your business cyber secure while supporting your adherence to the GDPR and NIS Directive.

This webinar will explain how you can take advantage of the collective wisdom of thousands of cyber security practitioners with the international standard for information security management, ISO 27001.
