

Latin Trails introduces new Pacaya Samiria wildlife reserve cruise in Peru

QUITO, ECUADOR, February 17, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Latin Trails (www.latintrails.com), recently announced the introduction of the Pacaya Samiria wildlife cruise. Guests can choose between a 4- or 5-day cruise on board the expedition company's newest riverboat, the 8-passenger M/V Cattleya.

This intimate Amazon river adventure begins and ends in the Peruvian Amazon city of Iquitos, exploring in depth the Pacaya Samiria wildlife reserve, known as one of the largest protected areas in all of the Amazon river basin. Highlights of this amazing journey include:

- Visiting the birth of the mighty Amazon
- Sightings of river dolphins, caiman's, birdlife, monkeys and even jaguars are a possibility
- Hiking under and above the canopy of primary forest
- Exploration of small streams and oxbow lakes on board private skiffs
- Peruvian fine dining with wine included at all meals
- Guided shore excursions
- Visits to local communities and experience of tribal life of the river people
- Visit to a Manatee nurturing and rescue center

Guest can enjoy a carefree exploration of the natural wonders of the rainforest as they navigate the Amazon river tributaries enjoying Cattleya's distinct amenities, including the spacious staterooms with River views through panoramic windows, king-size beds and private facilities. Meals are served in one seating, featuring the Peruvian gourmet cuisine. Daily shore excursions and educational lectures help guests make the most of the surrounding wilderness.

"It is one of the most intimate expedition style river cruises in the world," said Marcel Perkins, CEO, Latin Trails. "With this new program, we can enhance the meaning of privacy for FIT travel. It will allow our guests to enjoy nature one to one."
