rescued and provided emergency, ongoing care and placement for more than 200 imperiled, neglected, abused, starved and homeless wild horses, including 17 pregnant mares and twenty four orphan foals who recently came through its doors. “Wild for Life Foundation is committed to providing the best quality of life possible for all horses coming into our program,” said Katia Louise, of the Wild For Life Foundation. “As an all-volunteer nonprofit, we work around the clock to serve our mission and we rely entirely on continued donations from caring community members that want to help prevent the starvation and cruelty of America's equines.”

WFLF provides a loving and quality refuge for orphaned, distressed, injured, and displaced horses and burros to receive a second chance at life. WFLF's wild horse preservation initiative offers a lifesaving and educational program for the rescue and long term sanctuary of wild horses and burros in need. At WFLF rescue is just the beginning of a long, dedicated endeavor to provide for these homeless cruelty victims.
