Brightside Academy partners with Morning Circle Media to promote bilingual literacy during Week of the Young Child

PHILADELPHIA, PA, USA, April 20, 2015

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Brightside Academy's 543 West Courtland Street, Philadelphia celebrated Week of the Young Child by teaching the children about gardening. Morning Circle Media, a Philadelphia bilingual publishing company, joined the academy for a reading of the book Haiqal's Garden by Haiqal and Syarif Syaifulloh. The book focuses on healthy eating habits by the use of an urban garden maintained by a local Indonesian family.

The organization creates bilingual children's books to promote family literacy and cultural competence. Children's author Cynthia Kreilick founded the company in 2011, and has worked with various authors and illustrators to create eight bilingual children's books representing different ethnicities. Each book is based on Philadelphia themes, and centers around family activities.

"The children and staff enjoyed the book reading and gardening activity with Morning Circle Media. The event was very interactive, and the readers engaged the children by acting out the book as the story was read. The authors of the book also attended the event and translated parts of the story in Indonesian," stated Joanne Greger, Instructional Specialist for Brightside Academy's Philadelphia region.
