The Future of GTL in the ‘New Reality”: latest updates from Velocys, Narkangan GTL, ExxonMobil, NiQuan Energy...

SMi Group Reports (2015.04.28, London): The SMi Group's 18th annual Gas to Liquids Conference will be taking place in London, UK, on 12th - 13th October 2015.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, April 28, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Regularly visited by over a hundred experts from around the world, this year's event will provide the ideal platform for discussion over developments within the industry, regional analysis, finance and economics of GTL, the potential of small-scale GTL, delivered by senior level speakers from the world's foremost authorities on GTL. Registration is now open. Further information is available at http://www.gas-to-liquids.co.uk/ein GTL 2015 is a unique opportunity for attendees to gain a competitive edge as well as key insight into the strategies to overcome the logistical, financial, technological and economic challenges associated with projects. The conference will provide the perfect platform for networking with perspectives from all of the key influences of the Gas to Liquids ecosystem.

Event speakers include leading experts from Velocys, Narkangan GTL Company, Primus Green Energy, ExxonMobil & Research, NiQuan Energy, Oberon Fuels, E-Meta Venture, Malwell Corporate Projects, SPTEC Advisory, CEG Europe, SMBC Europe Division, ABB Group, Renaissance Heavy Industries and many more.

Key Benefits of Attending Gas to Liquids Include:

• Learn about the latest technological developments in small scale GTL
• Hear from leading experts in the field on long term trends and drivers

- Discuss the effect of the oil price margin on the GTL industry
- Understand what makes projects fail and risk mitigation strategies
- Join topical panel discussions and debates on the economic and commercial viability of GTL
- Assess the locational aspects of GTL including where, why and when it works
- Debate the benefits of GTL versus other gas monetisation options

For those who are interested in attending this event, there is currently an early bird discount of $400 before the 29th May 2015

GTL 2015 programme also includes and interactive half-day post-conference workshop “How viable are GTL opportunities in today’s energy price world?”, hosted by Alex Forbes, Director, Forbes Communications.

GTL-2015 is proud to be supported by Interfax Energy, Cedigaz, Gas Infrastructure Europe Association, Fierce Energy, Inderscience Publishers, NRG Expert, LNG Industry, Petroleum Africa, Navigant Research and many more.
