

Hear updates on spray drying processes and cutting edge technology at Lyophilisation Europe 2015

SMI's 3rd annual Lyophilisation Europe conference will be taking place on the 29 - 30 June 2015 at the Holiday Inn Regents Park Hotel in London, UK

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, April 29, 2015

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The pharmaceutical spray drying market is expected to grow at a significant rate with factors such as high efficiency and improvement in stability of products driving the industry forward.* Lyophilisation Europe 2015 will be taking place in London, UK in June and will provide attendees with the chance to receive the latest updates on cutting edge technology and spray drying processes from award winning contract manufacturers Hovione and pharmaceutical industry experts, Novo Nordisk A/S.

SMI's 3rd annual event will include 10+ hours of content, 5+ hours of networking, 4 topical panel/roundtable debates and 13 case study driven presentations.

Day 1 of the event will see Eunice Costa, Process Development Engineer from Hovione, share unique insights on spray drying process development and scale up for complex dosage forms with a focus on benchmarking, formulation development and maintaining critical quality attributes.

Day 2 will see an opening keynote address entitled: Scale up methodologies for spray drying processes, presented by Novo Nordisk A/S Principle Scientist, Sune Klint Andersen. Dr Andersen will discuss optimising solution properties and spray drying of nanoparticles as well as analyse challenges associated with atomization.
