PULASKI, NY, USA, May 5, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HealthWay, the global leader in medical grade air cleaning systems is proud to announce that their President, Vinny Lobdell has been asked to be a keynote speaker at the Building Healthcare Exhibition and Conferences in Dubai on Tuesday, June 9th, 2015 at 10am. Mr. Lobdell will be speaking on ultrafine particle control and infection control an issue that has plagued the United Arab Emirates with the outbreak and spread of Coronavirus, also known as (MERS). Although scientists are not certain how the disease spreads, most known cases have come from close contact with others who have the virus in a hospital setting.

HealthWay has partnered with hospitals throughout the Middle East in the fight against MERS using their medical grade air cleaners patented with DFS technology that has been proven to capture 99.99% of ultrafine particles down to .007 micron in size, which is 50 times more efficient than what most hospitals currently rely on with HEPA filters. Vinny Lobdell quoted, "It's an honor to share our knowledge and expertise on air quality in the fight against harmful airborne pollutants known to cause infectious disease. We understand that air quality problems come in all shapes and sizes and there is no one singular approach to addressing all indoor air quality problems."
