Founder and CTO Rolf Versluis, the innovator behind a number of unique products and business IT solutions offered by Adcap, was thrilled by this announcement, "We take pride in crafting advanced technology solutions to help our customers communicate more effectively over fast and secure data networks, and to be recognized for our continued growth once again is a great honor!"

This is the third time Adcap has more than doubled its revenue in the last two years by providing customers a focused offering of Cisco voice, video and collaboration systems, Cisco wired and WIFI networks, and Cisco cloud application delivery infrastructure.

"Adcap's success is 100% due to its people" says CEO Christine Versluis. "The quality of our people can be attributed core team that has been with us over five years, the additions of best-in-class talent such as Chief Operating Officer Matt Merriman and VP of Talent Bradford Wilkins, and the development of our own internal team through our Entry Level and Industry Transition training programs"

VP of Talent Management Bradford Wilkins added: "Rather than complain about the lack of a talent pool, we knew we had to create one. Our leadership team's dedication to developing our own talent internally has given us employees who are passionate and love what they do."
