/EINPresswire.com/ -- Erdmann Exterior Designs is pleased to announce the debut of their newly redesigned website at www.erdmannexteriors.com. The roofing contractor in Arlington Heights has launched a responsive site that has a fresh new look and improved functionality.

The website has been updated with a new layout, new graphics and new content to inform and educate homeowners who are in the market for home improvements like roofing, siding, windows, and doors. The site isn't even a month old yet, but Erdmann Exteriors has already reported an uptick in business as a direct result of the new website.

"We are very excited about our new website and have gotten very positive feedback from our customers. We have already gotten projects based on the great presentation of the site and our response time to inquiries," said Lori Bloomfield, Marketing Coordinator at Erdmann Exterior Designs (www.erdmannexteriors.com).

Erdmann Exterior Designs is an exterior remodeling contractor with a flair for design. The siding contractors in Barrington have an extensive design process, which helps homeowners fully explore their options before selecting new siding, windows, or roofing. During the process, a wants and needs list is developed and then edited to create a solution that fits the homeowners personality as well as the home's needs. When the proposal is presented it contains Good, Better, and Best options, giving homeowners plenty of choices for the basic project along with upgrades and additional services.

"We want homes to look their best and we want homeowners to be happy with their choices. Exterior remodeling isn't something that most homeowners do more than once in their lives and we want to get it right. So we take time on the front end of the project to make sure our clients get answers to all of their questions and are completely happy with their choices before we begin work. Customer satisfaction is very important to us," explained Kyle Erdmann.

Erdmann Exterior Designs uses products from some of the most well-known home improvement suppliers around. They install James Hardie Siding, Marvin Windows and Doors, CertainTeed Shingles, and Beechworth Windows.
