This is the first time that Benckiser Roth has won both Commodity Risk awards in the same year. In addition to being voted "Commodity Broker of the Year" by Commodity Risk's readers, Benckiser Roth was awarded a total of 3 first-place positions in the categories: "Energy", "Natural Gas" and "Oil".

Voters in this year's Commodity Risk Awards rankings included energy trading executives and magazine editors who based their decisions on a variety of criteria, including pricing, liquidity provision, counterparty risk, speed of execution and reliability. The poll reflects the views of market participants and their peers in terms of overall quality of service.

Liu Yaxian, Editor, Commodity Risk said: "Despite a difficult market for brokers, Benckiser Roth continues to deliver excellent service to its clients, as reflected in the results of Energy Risk's annual commodity rankings... It has also shown itself highly responsive to regulatory change."

Paul Nanging, Managing Director of Benckiser Roth said: "We're proud to be recognized for our work by the editors and readers of Commodity Risk and we'll strive to retain this prestigious award next year too. As the global commodities landscape evolves, Benckiser Roth works hard to deliver the best products and services for our customers to help them navigate regulatory changes and allow for a smooth transition."
