

BTCFlap takes bold strategy in Bictoin purchase

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, USA, June 7, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The cryptocurrency trader (www.btcflap.com) based in New York is taking a bold strategy within the current Bitcoin market conditions. While the price of Bitcoin is slowly but continuously going down, BTCFlap is still purchasing Bitcoin for even higher amounts than those they were offering within the previous months.

Many may be wondering what stands behind this company's appetite for Bitcoin. At the heart of BTCFlap there is a handful of people who have financial and economic background and are confident they know what they are doing. The company's representatives declared to have purchased over 15000 BTC so far and target the acquirement of another 5000 by the end of August 2015.

While investments are in excess of USD 3 Mil already, the company is going out on the market for more, offering even higher rates for Bitcoin purchase. These weeks the offers stands for 15% above Blockchain's official rate, being time limited from June 7th to June 30th.

"We're aiming high achievements with this company and so it is our business strategy. At this stage, our main focus is purchasing as much Bitcoin as we can. We are on a budget but haven't reached its bottom yet. We cannot go public with our future business plan at the moment because it is easy to have competitors steal our ideas and we don't want that to happen. People may be asking what do we have in mind and many have been wondering if this business makes any sense, as we're buying expensive Bitcoin, but we have a strategy behind all this and we are confident we'll surprise the market in a very good way soon. We're planning on a business that will bring even more value to the cryptocurrency market." Declared Paul Goldwin, founder and CEO of BTCFlap.
