

Leading Countertop Fabricator and Installer in the Southeast Rebrands as Seven Stone.

The newest offering in the premium countertop fabrication and installation industry is also one of the oldest and most trusted.

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, June 10, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In 2015, Seven Stone acquired Oldcastle Surfaces, Inc., a company with locations in Atlanta, Charlotte, Nashville, Winston Salem and Greenville and serving the entire Southeast. The new company will continue to service residential and commercial customers using the Seven Stone customer centric service experience promise.

Seven Stone is owned and managed by Mark Blanchard, former executive at Cambria, and his sister Amy Lathi. Mark and Amy's family has a long history in the stone business dating back to 1872 when the Blanchard's fabricated stone monuments in Upstate New York.

"Seven Stone will deliver a unique product for the Southeast. We are bringing a best of class customer service model, and now will combine this with the long-standing precision technology and hand craftsmanship that built the Old Castle reputation. Together, Seven Stone will be able to give our customers the highest quality product and installation experience possible," said Mark Blanchard, President.

Seven Stone carries a wide variety of surfaces including Natural Stone, Quartz, Solid Surfaces, Craft-Art Wood and Green Materials with a large selection of samples to choose from in their five showrooms. Seven Stone also offers a complete range of services from design consultation to value engineering and complex custom design/fabrication, which incorporate thermoforming, inlay colors, sandblasting and coving.
