

Pnina Tobin of On Your Side Coaching to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA, USA, June 12, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As people do the work to make necessary changes in their lives, they often wish they had a coach who believes in and champions them as they step out of their comfort zone.

Pnina Tobin is a Certified Professional Co-Active coach, a feminist and the founder of On Your Side Coaching, where she specializes in working with women in transition to align with their values and prioritize their own fulfillment and happiness.

“On Your Side Coaching means I’m rooting for you,” says Tobin. “I know the best of you and I’ve seen the best of you and I’m encouraging you to put your best self out into the world. I help women empower themselves and make the transition from taking care of others to taking care of themselves too!”

Though she’s been a coach for 10 years, On Your Side Coaching is the culmination of a 35 year career advocating for women, children and parents. Tobin is the founder of successful two non-profit social justice organizations: one advocating for the rights of single parents and another dedicated to preventing child abuse. Tobin continues this work as a coach for women leaders of social change organizations as well as for parents and families.

“I’ve also been working with the family courts,” says Tobin. “People are divorcing and they’re having a heck of a time. They call me in and I work as a parenting coach and observe them, train them and work with them privately. If I feel the children will be safe and feel loved after our work together, I will recommend extended visitation. There are so many different places coaching can go.”

Tobin recently started Grandmas Unite! to provide support to grandmas in their role as they connect or re-connect with their grown children as parents.

“The assumption is that grandmas don’t need support as they take on their joyful, yet often difficult, job. As one woman put it, ‘I like sitting around talking to other grey haired people. Who else can understand what I’m going through? I’m very excited about what Grandmas Unite! has done so far.’”

Being a coach represents the fulfillment of Ms. Tobin's career. As a coach, she combines the skills and experience of her past work with her unique way of helping people.

"I've had a long life and have done many things, but nothing has grabbed me like coaching," says Tobin. "It just thrills me when I can see someone emerging into who they are and begin the journey to where they want to go. There's nothing like it for me. I'm really passionate about my coaching work!"

CUTV News Radio will feature Pnina Tobin in an interview with Doug Llewelyn on June 16th at 1pm EST.
