

I AM MAN ENOUGH Shows Men Their Value And Receives High Praise

Author/Entrepreneur Asa Leveaux releases his 4th book geared towards helping men all over the world understand that they are man enough-right where they are.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLAHOMA, UNITED STATES, June 19, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With daily affirmations from industry leaders, entrepreneurs, coaches and experts, readers will receive a book that not only motivates but shows you that no matter what you have or have not accomplished, you are a man.

"The purpose of this book is to develop the hearts and minds of men around the world so they can become aware that they are enough," Leveaux said, "I wrote this book because the men in my life felt that their masculinity had to be proven by who they loved, how they fought, where they operated and what they had and my desire is to offer a new way of 'BEING' man."

I AM Man Enough: 365 Affirmations For Men not only includes 365 powerful affirmations to start each day of the year, but also a workbook for every man no matter where he's at in life to customize his game plan for growth and personal as well as professional success.

"I want every man to live a life that is saturated in self-actualized genius," Leveaux continued, "I desire that you not only speak positivity into your life but you also conceive thoughts on how to make that thought a living and breathing result."

Excerpt from I AM Man Enough: 365 Affirmations For Men:

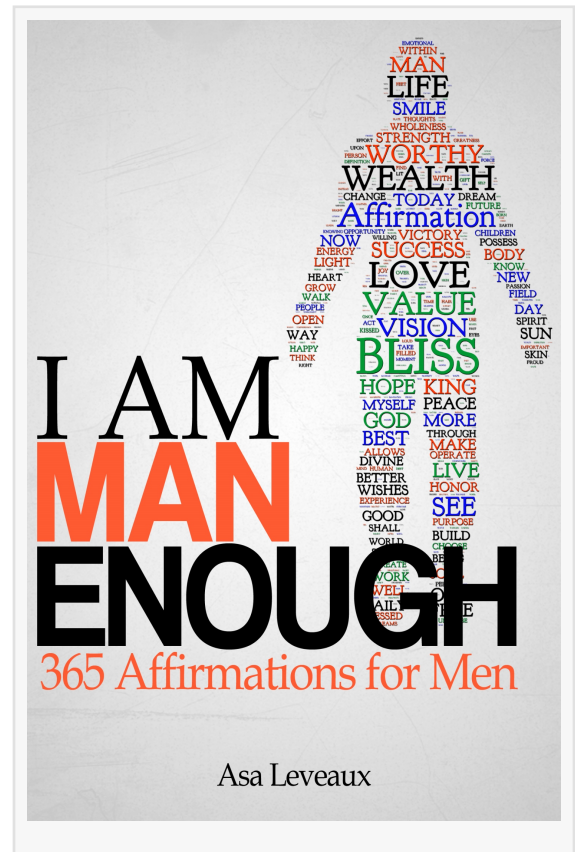

"As a man I must ask the following: Do we not deserve to be affirmed? Do we not deserve to be publicly valued? Is man merely a being that has a penis and is responsible for all of the ills of the world? I believe in the possibility of manhood." -Passage from Asa Leveaux

"Control your will and control your destiny."- Passage from Vic Carter is the principal evening anchor at CBS WJZ-TV in Baltimore, MD.

"It is inadvisable for anyone to tie up their self-worth in a singular aspect of their life, and this is especially true for athletes."-Passage from Josh George a Paralympic Gold Medalist
