Inbound tour operator, Wild Wings Safaris, celebrated its 10th birthday with a staff educational trip to the malaria-free, "Big 5" Madikwe Game Reserve.

GEORGE, WESTERN CAPE, SOUTH AFRICA, June 22, 2015
/EINPresswire.com/ -- Coinciding with these 10 year celebrations, the company has been inducted into the Tripadvisor Hall of Fame after winning a Certificate of Excellence for five years in a row.

"It's been an amazing team effort and I am so thankful to be surrounded by such competent, passionate individuals," said Onne Vegter, who started the company in 2005 along with his brother Symen.

Wild Wings Safaris specialises in designing tailor-made African safaris to all of Africa's top safari destinations, but it has a strong focus on the greater Kruger National Park, where it acts as a ground operator and offers scheduled open vehicle safaris for small groups.

"Kruger is where it all started," Vegter explains. As kids, founders Onne and Symen fell in love with the bush during their many family vacations to South Africa's Kruger National Park. Today, their passion for Africa and its wildlife translates into the kind of customer service, attention to detail and enthusiasm that the company has become known for among its many return clients.

The Wild Wings team is also passionate about education, and in 2011 they launched the Wild Wings Educational Trust as a separate, non-profit entity which exists to provide better educational opportunities for disadvantaged children.

In 2013, the company opened a branch office in London to offer a more convenient service to its growing UK customer base.
