

DSIM -- Now A Google Certified Training Institute

DSIM is now a Certified Google Partner. With the addition of this certification, DSIM is sparkling and is listed among the top training institutes of India.

NEW DELHI, INDIA, June 28, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DSIM, a Delhi based digital marketing training institute, has taken a giant leap ahead and as of now is a Certified Google Partner. The partnership certification is reserved only for those selected companies which have excellent knowledge in implementation of Google products like Google Adwords and Google AdSense. The firm has worked hard to achieve this renowned distinction.

With the addition of this certification, DSIM is bubbling and is listed among the top training institutes of India. Google badge is enough itself to tell about the reputation of DSIM.

The company is well versed with Google's product. They run a healthy business; have happy customers and they use best practices of Google. A great team of young, dynamic and energetic professionals are serving the clients coming from different backgrounds.

Experts implement all the new features of Adwords and AdSense to give their best to the clients.

DSIM teaches marketers how to reach right target market with lower acquisition cost in the best way possible.

Mr. Kunal Choudhary, founder of DSIM said "We are very excited to partner with Google. It is a mark of start of a long term journey and commitment of helping businesses to reach out to their prospects online and increase brand visibility.

He added, "When we founded Delhi School of Internet Marketing in 2011, we never thought that we will move on to become number one in digital marketing training having trained almost 4000 professionals & business owners. Being a Google partner only ensures that Google trusts us in delivering quality digital marketing products.

Google partner status will further help us to ensure delivery of quality training. We will make sure that our trainees get the maximum opportunities out of this".

Mr. Karan Sharma, marketing manager of DSIM said "We are in such a pace that we have completed more than 132 batches till now which is increasing in count day by day. Over 4100 professionals have been trained by us who rated us 8.6 on a scale of 10. We feel pleasure to see our clients happy and flourishing".

Fully-fledged live classroom training environment is provided for the various classes of personnel. Training programs for students, working professionals, business man and entrepreneurs according to their time suitability is offered by the Institute.

DSIM is well versed with latest technology and have exposure to industry experts. They provide only practical training which is required in the industry. Other than the training session, what other benefitsthe trainees get are the doubt sessions which makes the trainees fully confident in what they are learning. Industry case studies make the trainees proficient in the practical market scenario.

Although the clients are trainedimpressively with each and every module of digital marketing but thinking of any possibility of query or assistance after the completion of the training, DSIM provides post training support for 1year after the completion of the training.

A valuable hands-on training is provided in weekday/weekend batches in a structured & live environment where trainees have access to practical application opportunities to practice and apply learned skills.

For corporate, DSIM conducts 45 hours fully-fledged training and advanced 2-day workshop in Internet marketing where the flexible training enables the employees to learn tools, techniques and acquire advanced skills required to increase the business market share, create brand awareness, communicate with potential customers, reach right target market and take the business to global platform.

DSIM is a team of 45 nerds coming from different background and the success of DSIM says about the dedication of the whole team towards work and services.
