

Military Flight Training 2015: Early Bird Discount expires 30th June 2015

SMI's 4th Annual Military Flight Training conference takes place on 16 - 17 September 2015 in London, UK

LONDON, ENGLAND, UNITED KINGDOM, June 29, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With the £200 Early Bird Discount expiring in just one day on the 30th June, SMI urge attendees to book now for the Military Flight Training conference, taking place in London, UK in September. For more information or to register visit the website

The 2015 event will bring together senior military representatives alongside flight training and simulation experts to partake in a series of interactive presentations, panel discussions and roundtables on how simulation systems can provide realistic mission training in a safe environment. Building on this, here are some key reasons to attend the conference:

Unrivalled speaker line-up includes 20 presentations including keynotes from United States Air Force, Italian Air Force, Royal Norwegian Air Force, Turkish Air War College, Royal Canadian Air Force, Royal Air Force Valley, French Air Force, Ascent Flight Training, Swedish Armed Forces, Royal Air Force and Civil Aviation Authority, USC Institute for Creative Technologies, ISTAR Force Headquarters RAF Waddington plus many more...

Interactive panel debate on United World of Training. 2015 Panellists include: United States Air Force, RAF Waddington, Ascent Flight Training, Think Company and Swedish Armed Forces. The panel will discuss bringing the different countries to train together to train and how can this be achieved, discussing if simulators may gain further attractiveness if products are interlinked and what is the potential to be gained through partnership with commercial vendors.

Over 12 hours of compelling content as attendees will hear about the latest key topics in the world of military flight training including: ways simulators can reduce costs, improving the readiness of pilots, challenges with keeping flight training requirements and capabilities current and up to date, importance of investing in basic and advanced training systems, adopting the latest technologies and improving integration of simulated and live flying training as a key factor for success.

In addition to the conference, the event will feature an interactive workshop entitled Increasing Mission Effectiveness and Success in an Increasingly Uncertain World through Full Crew Training and will be hosted by Andy Furness, Founder/CEO, Amber Tiger Aviation (UK).

With the advent of new technologies and ideas, this workshop will look into how full crew training and the effects of sorties on individuals within the crew ultimately affect mission effectiveness. This workshop will capture the training requirements and solutions allowing your organisation to embrace strategies to increase effectiveness in an ever uncertain, changing world.

LAST CHANCE: Register by 30th June and receive a £200 discount
