

The New Face of Damanino Tailors Truly Suits the Position

Premium bespoke tailor announces new location and new presenter

BANGKOK, THAILAND, July 28, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Daniel Singh, owner of the elite Bangkok-based tailoring brand Damanino, announces a new location in Bangkok as well as his plans to globalize. The new store is located at 400/3 (between Soi 20 & 22) Sukhumvit Road, Klongtoey and opens in September 2015. Singh is also excited to release the name of the new face of Damanino.

Opening the new shop in Bangkok inspired Singh to make another update. Now, Damanino not only has a new location but a new presenter. GMM Grammy artist Justin Pongumpai has gladly accepted the position. Justin is an alternative vocalist and will release his first single to Asian audiences in early October. He has been featured in several Asian magazines and will be showcased next month as one of Thailand's most eligible bachelors.

"Opening the new store here in the heart of Bangkok is just the first step in establishing Damanino as a globally recognized brand," Singh said. "Our current clientele is made up of loyal expats and international travelers, all of which have expressed overwhelming positive feedback concerning the high-quality and exclusivity of our suits. People currently travel from all over to be fitted by our highly trained tailors. We know it's the right time to expand."

Singh initially plans to open stores in neighboring countries. Having already assigned representatives in the United States, United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, Japan, Germany, Spain and Switzerland, expanding Damanino stores into key cities in North America, Europe and Australia will be a natural progression.

Damanino has been well established in the metropolitan Bangkok area for over seven years. In that time, Singh has made suits for politicians, ministers, police and the Thai Army. He has also serviced a number of internationally renowned sports and entertainment figures. What sets Damanino apart from other tailors in the city are their high quality fabrics that are flown in from Italy and England and their superior tailors who have been trained in countries across the world.

Coming from three generations of bespoke tailors, Singh grew up working in his father's store. Once he was older, he trained under some of the most renowned tailors on Savile Row in London. In 2008, he took what he learned from the experts back to Bangkok to open his own bespoke tailoring business.

Singh inspires customer loyalty among celebrities, expats, frequent visitors and successful Thais alike. Damanino offers thousands of quality fabrics that are stitched to perfection and reflect the highest standards of custom tailoring. These are values that will continue to be true as Damanino expands into markets worldwide.
