NEW YORK, USA, July 28, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Up until August 17, 2015, AnyTranscription is offering a 30% discount summer sales promotion. The promotion hopes to meet the requirements of more students by offering a special discount on academic transcription services over the summer.

Transcription services are subdivided into different fields with academic transcription falling into one of the relatively important categories. In recent years, transcription requirements in education have been rising. Academic transcription's main users are students and teachers, and these services can better help them to complete their work faster and to higher standards, and meet their special requirements. How to better understand students' and teachers' various academic transcription requirements? How to better serve this extensive group of academic transcription users? How to provide users with high-value results for low costs? These are the questions AnyTranscription must face.

For student and teacher users, academic transcription is not just as simple as producing text from audio or video files; there are many other additional functions that academic users can benefit from. To start with, students face strict time constraints. How to get the best understanding of their teacher's content or pass tests in such a limited time span is a big challenge. Using academic transcription services, students can effectively save their own time while also gaining accurate study materials. On top of this, students and teachers can record lessons allowing students to fully concentrate in class. After class, these recordings can be converted to text files via transcription services allowing students to get a deeper understanding of the content being taught. Moreover, transcription services make study materials even easier to comprehend and better perform their roles as supplementary teaching material allowing students to study more efficiently and ensure that no content is omitted. These services are especially useful for those with learning disabilities, helping to reduce pressure and make life easier.

Therefore, making use of affordable and accurate transcription services is a great way to meet the information dissemination and recording requirements of teachers and students in the classroom. If you are looking for academic transcription services at special summer discount rates, AnyTranscription is there to help and poised to meet all of your academic requirements.
