

Vital Nation Socks at Pro Stock Hockey

Pro Stock Hockey, the leading supplier of pro stock hockey equipment, has new inventory of Vital Nation socks.

DOWNERS GROVE, IL, USA, July 30, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Pro Stock Hockey, leader in pro stock hockey gear, will make available new inventory of Vital Nation protective pro stock hockey socks on its website beginning Thursday, July 30.

These pro model practice socks, which are not available to equipment retailers, come in red, black, white, navy blue and orange. The socks are made from a thicker, more elastic material than standard socks – making them more resistant to cuts and tears – and includes a slice-resistant Kevlar insert making this the most protective sock on the market for NHL players. This sock limits the risk of injury to the Achilles tendon from a skate blade.

This inventory was pro overruns for practice socks for the Chicago Blackhawks, Philadelphia Flyers, Carolina Hurricanes and Columbus Blue Jackets

What's most unique about these socks is the Kevlar sewn into the back of the sock to help protect the areas of the leg that are most exposed and most prone to lacerations from skates.

"The Vital Nation KPS600 PRO hockey sock was available only to the pros for a long time. We are excited to offer such an exclusive piece of equipment to our customers," says Bobby Kilian, Pro Stock Hockey Marketing Manager. "Furthermore, offering hockey socks that may help prevent crippling injuries available to our customers gives us a great sense of satisfaction."
