

Ahern & Associates Announces Outlook for Trucking Industry as Two Additional Transactions are Completed within the Last 60 Days

PHOENIX, AZ, UNITED STATES, August 6, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Andy Ahern, Founder and CEO of the industry-leading M&A advisory firm Ahern & Associates, has released his thoughts and projections for the remainder of the year ahead for the trucking company as well as for Ahern & Associates as a company. Clients of Ahern's have purchased two additional trucking companies within the last 60 days, thanks to the clients being able to complete the transactions under advisement with Ahern & Associates' services.

So far, 2015 has been a very active year for both the trucking industry and for Ahern & Associates as well, a trend that is expected to continue. The outlook for mergers and acquisitions continues as a busy one, and it is Ahern's prediction that these transactions will continue to soar through year's end. This is especially the case as more and more owners of trucking companies seek to buy growth and reduce their costs.

Analysts state there is an abundance of cash for making deals worldwide. Several recent articles coincide with this fact, indicating that there is up to $1 trillion sitting in idle private equity firms, eager to put that money to work. In the trucking industry, there is an increased pressure to increase profitability, and the economy in general still hasn't reached its expectations. By acquiring, or joining a larger organization, financial security can be gained for many trucking and logistics companies.

In each of the two recent transactions that were closed with the advisory services of Ahern & Associates, the companies that were purchased were very profitable, and each had a long history of success. The respective management team of each company will remain on board at each, going forward.
