"Whenever you select winners, there will also be losers," commented NCM Online editor, Anthony Ailed. He added, "As NCM Online acts as an affiliate for nearly all of the companies we review, we were forced to consider the risk of alienating hosting companies with which we have established business relationships. However, we decided at the outset that we would publish our findings, and let the chips fall where they may."

NCM Online's efforts have resulted in reliable source of unbiased hosting information for webmasters, small-business owners, internet marketers, and bloggers.
