

BasicInvite.com Launches Upload Your Own Photo Wedding Invitations

DIY customers now have access to the same premium print and paper options

SAINT GEORGE, UTAH, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2015

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Basic Invite now offers a print your own design solution for individuals that have already created their wedding invites but just need a place to print and trim their invitations.

Since 2006 Basic Invite has offered unique wedding invitation templates that can be easily customized online. All of Basic Invite's designs are printed on premium 120lb card stock in either a semi-gloss, matte, or shimmer finish as well as include free white envelopes.

“Customers who design their own wedding invitations with photos from scratch want high quality paper options that are just not found at a local copy shop. So Basic Invite wanted to make sure these customers had access to the same high quality paper and print quality you would expect for such an important day.”

With the new upload your own design feature customers are able to upload a jpeg file in the dimensions that are specified in the product details section of each product. Once a design has been uploaded the customer will see a preview on screen of exactly what the invitation will look like once it is printed. Customers can even order a sample of the invite so they can see a printed version of the card to make sure the colors and quality is what they expected before placing a full order.

Customers using the upload your own design product will still have all of the premium options Basic Invite has to offer. Customers can select their trim options such as rounded corners, back options; as well each order will still include free white envelopes with the option to upgrade to colored envelopes.
