

NAEE 2015 Opens in 8 weeks

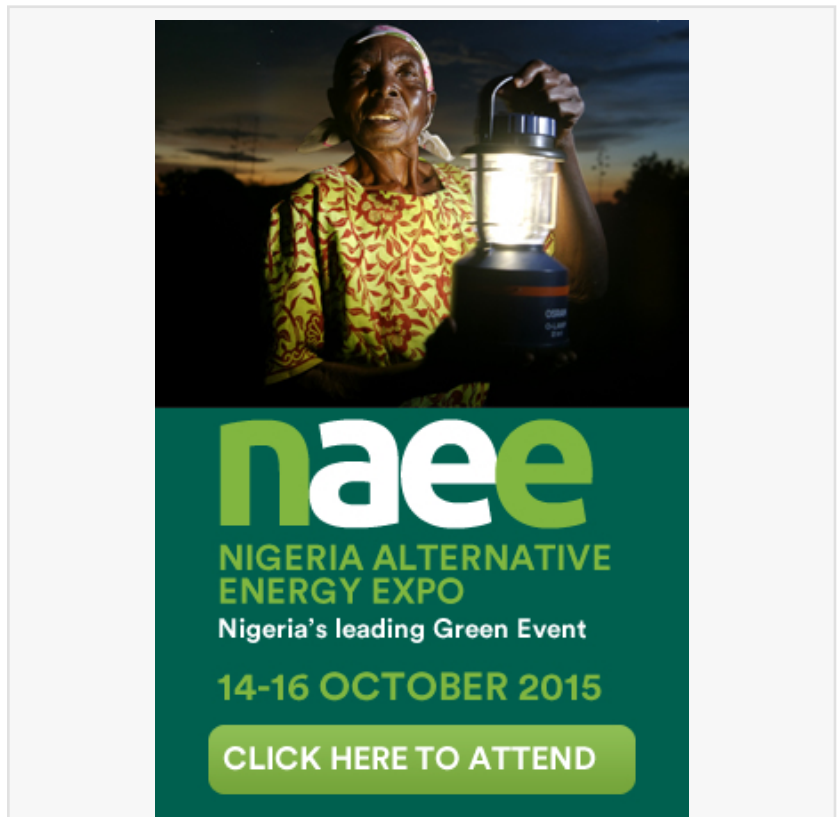

Nigeria Alternative Energy Expo (NAEE) is the leading renewable energy event in Nigeria, bringing together 800+ of the influencers, leaders and decision makers.

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, August 17, 2015

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Nigeria is one of the world's emerging markets with a population of 160 Million and less than 10,000MW on the national grid. NAEE 2015 provides a platform for discussions on the key technical and strategic challenges facing investors in the country. President Buhari has pledged that his administration will give the fullest possible attention to boosting power supply in Nigeria He said he is convinced that steady electricity will launch Nigeria into faster economic growth. But in order to realise the huge growth potential, both investors and government will have to rethink their strategic approach.

Nigeria Alternative Energy Expo (NAEE) is the leading renewable energy event in Nigeria, bringing together 800+ of the influencers, leaders and decision makers. This premium clean energy gathering will enable attendees to make new contacts, build relationships and share their latest innovations, projects and business plans with leading renewable energy experts; which will cover solar, wind, geothermal, hydro energy and mining energy management.

According to the EPIA, more than 40 gigawatts (GW) of PV power systems were installed worldwide in 2014, with which the global total capacity reached approximately 177 GW last year. The leader in the solar boom is China, followed by Japan and the United States. In five short years, according to the forecast by the association, the total capacity could triple to 550 GW.
