

Ballantyne Plastic Surgery, Charlotte NC Partners with Alphaeon & Teoxane; Intros New Skin Care Line

Ballantyne Plastic Surgery continues to offer the top skin care products to its client base and now that includes an innovative new product line

CHARLOTTE, NC, USA, August 18, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Alphaeon Corporation (Irvine, Calif.) has teamed up with Teoxane Laboratories in Geneva, Switzerland to usher in this new product line, which is now available through Ballantyne Plastic Surgery.

New technology has been used in these products to provide a vast amount of benefits, which include hydrating the skin and providing a more voluminous appearance.

Led by Dr. Thomas Liszka, Ballantyne Plastic Surgery has brought this line of products to Charlotte as one of the select American-based plastic surgeons to carry the new line of products. Ballantyne is also proud to announce its partnership with the innovative Swiss company.

These products are truly next-generation items. The hyaluronic acid cosmeceutical line is used to create plumper lips, treat nasolabial creases, or diminish smile lines. The reason why this line is in such high demand is because no other company has been able to create a long lasting topical hyaluronic acid product, which actually benefits the skin.

Based out of Charlotte, N.C., Ballantyne Plastic Surgery is the sole area provider for this revolutionary hyaluronic acid cosmeceutical line, which features a number of revitalizing products. An RHA serum is used to hydrate and nourish the skin with anti-oxidants, vitamins, and minerals.

The product line also features an RHA deep repair balm which works to decrease skin redness, bruising, and dryness. This product is primarily used after dermal injections or non-ablative laser treatments.

Another exciting new product is the Epidermal Serum which serves the purpose of reducing wrinkles and providing skin with a more youthful appearance.

The ingredients used to make all of these products have been tested and the results have been extremely positive. Multiple clinical tests have gone on to prove the effectiveness of the line of products.

“The platform is highly valuable to practices and sets a new standard in the marketplace,” said
