

24diamonds.com Advises That Now Is The Time To Purchase A Flashy Men's Diamond Watch

There's no better way to show off to your colleagues and loved ones!

NEW YORK, NY, USA, August 18, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The standard commercial tagline lets everyone know that "diamonds are a girl's best friend." However, 24diamonds.com wants the public to know that diamonds – particularly when adorning a high-end watch – are for men as well.

24diamonds.com, a renowned online retailer of diamond jewelry, loose diamonds, watches and luxury accessories based in New York City, urges you to think outside of the box when purchasing a luxury watch, and go for something with an interesting design or some diamond accents, rather than a standard, run-of-the-mill watch.

You work hard for your money, so why not show it off? Men's diamond watches from designers like Joe Rodeo and Aqua Master are designed for that very purpose. Yes, they keep time as well, and make it easy for you to know exactly when your appointments are when your cell phone battery is running low.

Watches are an easy accessory to wear, particularly when they have diamonds adorning their faces. Simple is not the name of the game when your Joe Rodeo watch keeps track of five different time zones with smaller, diamond-laden faces inserted inside of the larger, original one.

The men's diamond watches sold by 24diamonds.com encompass a number of different price points, ranging from $180.00 to over $51,428.00, making it easy to find a flashy watch within your budget. Materials include cases (which house the watch face and components) made from 14K gold, stainless steel, aluminum, ceramic, and PVD coated steel, while bands are made from standard steel, leather, rubber, plastic, stainless steel and ceramics. You also have your choice of movements, including automatic and quartz.

It doesn't matter whether your tastes range from austere to flashy; 24diamonds.com has a men's diamond watch for you made by a well-known jewelry brand.
