

Laurie Marks of Life Coach Gallery to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

LIGHTHOUSE POINT, FLORIDA, USA, August 20, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- We weren't put here to live a so-so life. We all have the ability to get what we want. It doesn't have to remain a dream.

"You are the designer of your life and you create a gallery of moments," says Laurie Marks, founder of Life Coach Gallery. "That's what Life Coach Gallery is all about. It's about the moments where you shine, where you reach your highest potential, the moments where you realize the things that you thought were impossible and your dreams become reality. Those moments go into your gallery."

Life throws a lot at us: stress, fear, pain, sorrow. Sometimes it's hard to communicate with the people around us. It's natural to seek the comfort of friends and family, but they are often too emotionally attached to an outcome. As a life coach, Laurie can be objective while still having our best interests at heart.

"Everyone experiences change differently. Sometimes we don't have the person we need to hear our side of the story," says Laurie. "That's where I come in. I'm on your side. Drawing on my personal experiences I'm able to determine how people can grow from their challenges and how they can fortify themselves and strengthen themselves."

“People think they have the right to throw up their hands and give up. That is not an option for us. We were meant to persevere. When people face challenges, they tend to buckle under the pressure. I keep them on their ground.”

Laurie says people need to know there's more to life. Life coaching is about keeping us focused on the other side of the walls we've built around us, walls that have become so thick to keep the bad out, they keep out the good as well.

“I like seeing people gain freedom from their fears, from their woes, from their hurts, from their pain. It begins with a conversation,” says Laurie. “When we speak to people we know, we tend to hold back the things we say. We don't reveal full truths. I will bring to light your value.”

CUTV News Radio will feature Laurie Marks in an interview with Jim Masters on August 24th at 11am EST.
