NEW YORK, NY, USA, August 28, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- For those of you who have also been there, done that and are still here as well as those aspiring to that status, Marv Rubinstein's memoir is a fun book to read. The title says it all. Been There! Done That! Still Here! is a real life story of someone who has lived, lived: success and failure; just getting by and living lavishly; two great wives, three successful kids; three grandchildren; numerous amours as well as many platonic female friends; extensive travel, including residing in New York, California, Mexico, London, Bangkok and Tel Aviv.

At 93, Marv has lived through historical and political events going back to Al Smith, the Great Depression, civilian life through three wars. Learn about the trials and tribulations of running a small business, some of the legal hurdles, some of the problems with employees who are also friends.

Learn about aggressive salesmanship and promotion. Cover bits and pieces of travelling and touring in over 70 countries and 49 States. Guess who started an early mating service called “East Meets West” long before you ever heard of Match.com and E-Harmony and sponsored a folk singing concert in a Greenwich village bar before Harry Belafonte became a headliner. Chemical engineer, lawyer, entrepreneur, author of 12 books, lyricist and many lower level jobs on the way up—what a life!

Marv steals from Shakespeare's Seven Ages of Man soliloquy, using the sub-title The Seven Ages of Marv to lead you along to his adventures—not with lions and tigers but with his fellow humans.
