24Seven Commerce releases Magento Point-of-Sale & Marketplace Extension

We provide turn-key solutions that enable our customers to build and launch an integrated online/offline operation at a minimum investment.

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, September 16, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 24Seven Commerce, a Silicon-Valley based global provider of integrated e-commerce software and market place solutions for independent retailers announced they have launched a Magento integration extension that enables point-of-sale (POS) integration with Magento. Web managers can easily connect Magento with their POS system and have an easy to use interface to instantly upload product data from POS to their Magento store. The integration streamlines both product and order management, automatically download web orders from Magento into POS, eliminate double data entry.

24Seven's cloud commerce solutions are developed specifically for brick-and-mortar retailers and connect directly to POS software, delivering a unified platform for managing in-store and online operations, including integration between POS, eBay and Amazon. 24Seven Commerce combines the power of multiple POS platforms with Magento, enabling retailers to administer web orders and web products through their familiar POS interface, and without data duplication.

"We provide turn-key solutions that enable our customers to build and launch an integrated online/offline operation at a minimum investment. With 24Seven Channel we can extend a retailer's POS system, providing a unified solution for both physical and online operations, including e-commerce and market places like eBay and Amazon," said Anil Jindal, CEO 24Seven Commerce. "Retailers and Magento developers typically lack the expertise to integrate multiple systems. Our team delivers an easy to use, cloud based channel manager, and we provide flexible plans that fit different needs and budgets," said Jindal.

24Seven's Magento to POS integration empowers brick-and-mortar stores to sell products on global marketplaces more efficiently. Eliminate manual data entry, no more copy pasting. Manage all your products in one place. Automatically synchronize inventory across all marketplaces and physical locations, increase customer satisfaction and deliver better operational efficiency. 24Seven's POS integration supports bulk channel listings, matrix products with variants including size, color and dimensions, automated image uploading, accurate inventory tracking through scheduled data synchronization, channel specific pricing rules, web orders automatically download into POS.

24Seven Commerce offers Magento integration with Retail Pro v8/v9, Retail Pro Prism, Microsoft Dynamics RMS, Tally.ERP9, Visual Retail Plus, Yellow Dog Software, Key Stroke POS and Tally Soft point-of-sale systems. Custom integrations are available.
