Media Links, Technology and Engineering Emmy® Award winner, and the market leader in media and data transport over IP solutions, announced it has relocated its Americas headquarters and U.S. based staff from Bloomfield, Connecticut to a new facility in Windsor, Connecticut, USA.

Media Links' renowned video over IP media transport and switching solutions facilitate the transport of high-value media content and data over long distance networks. The Company's solutions (MD8000, MDX Series and Network Management Software) are deployed globally by television broadcasters and major telecoms for the contribution and distribution of premium-quality 4K, HD, SD content and data.

The 10,000+ square foot operation supports key functions, including software development for the Company's global Research & Development team, as well as product and software quality assurance (QA) labs. The new headquarters also includes expanded customer training and demonstration facilities plus all administrative, technical support, operations, and warehousing for the Media Links' Americas business.

The facility is conveniently located less than three miles from Hartford's Bradley International Airport and less than two hours from New York City and Boston. It is minutes from major shipping and distribution centers.

"The relocation of our Americas headquarters reflects the continued growth and expansion of Media Links as our industry migrates to an IP-based infrastructure. Our new office provides us with significantly more space and resources to support our Americas customer base, including a well-equipped and expertly staffed training & support facility, with capacity for continued growth as we seek to further expand our leading Media over IP platform of solutions," commented Tom Canavan, President of Media Links Inc. "Notably, we are significantly growing our R&D functions here in the U.S. in support of our headquarters team in Japan.
