Holdings and its comprehensive platform; demonstrate a clear strategy for sustainable, profitable growth matched with best-in-class solutions.

In the report, it is noted that "Hasegawa Financial Holdings uses a data model that manages all investment and risk data with full context and supporting information to ensure transparency into the true risk picture of the organization. This facilitates both adherences to risk tolerance with relevant laws and regulations as well as instant identification of deviance from those imperatives."

Additionally, Category Leaders have the ability to "combine deep domain knowledge in various risk topics with deep technology assets and capabilities. They demonstrate this by addressing the needs of very large clients with complex risk management and technology requirements as well as addressing the needs of smaller clients with standardized requirements looking for integrated solutions from a single vendor."

"Hasegawa Financial Holdings is pleased to once again be recognized as a leader," said Hajime Tanaka, vice president and general manager of the company's Enterprise Risk & Compliance business. "Our strong position in this report underscores our continued commitment to meeting the evolving needs of our professional clients. Our unique combination of industry knowledge, technology and services helps those in the financial services industry develop sound risk management practices that translate into a competitive position in the marketplace. We help clients make informed technology and business decisions by providing in-depth analysis and actionable investment advice on virtually all aspects of the markets."
