

EscrowTech Leads The Way In Software Escrow Services

Technology Escrows Leader Proves Indispensable to Fortune 500 Companies

LEHI, UTAH, USA, September 30, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Working with the bigger fish in the sea of the business world is always a challenge, but EscrowTech has managed to do just that repeatedly, offering its indispensable software escrow services to some pretty big names including Adobe, Sigmaxim, and Itron.

Mitigating Risk

For most Fortune 500 companies, the goal is not only to produce the best product line at the best price, but also to keep a solid handle on risk mitigation, and that's where EscrowTech enters the picture. Because so much of our economy is based around software, technology, and intellectual property, it's difficult to create a measure of risk mitigation that is actually effective. EscrowTech, though, helps to design a plan that ensures everyone can operate on schedule even if the worst happens on the road ahead.

"We've worked to develop a service that truly goes the extra mile to keep all parties protected. Our menu of options means it's easy to set up an escrow agreement and to ensure everything is in place to protect your assets, no matter how large or small your company," said Jorge Sagastume, Vice President.

Trusting the Best

The success of EscrowTech can be drawn back to its phenomenal options along with great customer service, but part of the reason this company has been so successful with the Fortune 500 market is the fact that it has a long list of satisfied clients that fit in and out of that market indicator.

"We've worked with thousands of customers across the globe in almost every industry. From standard single beneficiary arrangements to more complex multiple vendor and beneficiary accounts, using EscrowTech means choosing the highest level of security in the industry. It's the key reason so many rely on us over any other company in the industry," said Jorge Sagastume, Vice President

Whether you're on the path to Fortune 500 success or you're a small startup looking for some real time protection, EscrowTech is the name to know in software escrow services.
