Start your transition to ISO 9001:2015 today with ITGP's ISO 9001:2008 to ISO 9001:2015 Gap Analysis Tool

ITGP launches its ISO 9001:2008 to ISO 9001:2015 Gap Analysis Tool, designed to help all organisations transition to the new Standard.

ELY, ENGLAND, October 8, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The new version of ISO 9001 – the international standard for quality management systems (QMSs) has now been published. Organisations certified to ISO 9001:2008 need to start thinking now about transitioning to meet the Standard's new requirements.

ITGP is pleased to announce the launch of its ISO 9001:2008 to ISO 9001:2015 Gap Analysis Tool, which has been designed to help all organisations do exactly that.

The ISO 9001: 2008 to ISO 9001:2015 Gap Analysis Tool has been created to help organisations that have implemented an ISO 9001:2008-compliant QMS to assess their current compliance against the new iteration of the Standard, ISO 9001:2015.

The first part of any ISO 9001 transition project is to determine where the QMS no longer meets the Standard's requirements. This user-friendly tool examines the clauses and requirements of ISO 9001:2008 and maps them to the new ISO 9001:2015, enabling all organisations to see where they need to focus their efforts when updating their QMS.

The ISO 9001:2008 to ISO 9001:2015 Gap Analysis Tool enables organisations to:

• Determine the state of their QMS
• Identify where they need to make changes
• Implement new processes and procedures

By using this tool organisations will be able to:

• Prioritise their workload
• Inform their initial project planning
• Achieve compliance with the new ISO 9001:2015 standard quickly and easily
