

MicroMain Corporation Announces Details for Exciting 2015 Users Conference

The 2015 MicroMain Users Conference is destined to be the best maintenance and facility management conference of the year.

AUSTIN, TX, UNITED STATES, October 19, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MicroMain Corporation, a leading provider of maintenance and facility management software, just announced details for its exciting 2015 Users Conference. This year's conference will be held in Austin, Texas from November 9th through the 11th. The event is designed to inform and empower maintenance and facility management professionals on how to more effectively use MicroMain's software solutions and will feature training from some of the brightest minds in the industry.

By offering the best training, our users can excel at their jobs and make positive, impactful changes in how their facilities are managed.

*Joe Brummer, MicroMain
CEO*

MicroMain started its educational users conference 15 years ago in an effort to show users how to get more from MicroMain software and, in turn, how to make their jobs easier and to be more productive. Over the years, the MicroMain Users Conference has become a must attend event for maintenance and facility management professionals around the world who want to expand their skills and connections in the industry. The conference offers everything from educational classes and hands on training to expert guest speakers, best practices discussions, and Q&A sessions.

The MicroMain Users Conference will also feature several training breakout sessions, allowing industry professionals to get extra training in the topics of their choice. From understanding reports, to mastering preventative maintenance and work orders, to improving overall efficiency - whatever the topic may be, there is a MicroMain training session to help master it.
