LogicalDOC Releases BIRT Integration for LogicalDOC Document Management System

LogicalDOC, leading provider of document management solutions for large and mid sized enterprises, is pleased to announce the integration with BIRT reports tool

NEW YORK, USA, AND , CARPI, ITALY, October 27, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LogicalDOC, which is a Document Management System (DMS) platform company, notified the public recently about the inclusion of another feature that connects both LogicalDOC Enterprise Edition and Eclipse BIRT (an open source Business Intelligence tool). Designing and accessing of report from within a LogicalDOC application are provided by this LogicalDOC-BIRT Integration.

The merging of DMS and BIRT provides an excellent solution to some challenges faced by content management solution architects of today; an instance is support for ECM governance. Generation of automated and actionable metrics for content-centric solutions is enabled by business analytics and reporting through the ECM application.

LogicalDOC Software Package

Another benefit of this LogicalDOC–BIRT integration is integrated reporting capability on LogicalDOC applications, thus allowing reports and analytics to be designed, rendered and accessed.

LogicalDOC and BIRT Engine have been joined together so as to make reporting capabilities available within the LogicalDOC environment, and to allow management of security controls in a single place. The following are the things this solution has provided:
• Content management solution architects, through the provision of advanced reporting tools without leaving the LogicalDOC software environment or platform.
• DMS application users, through the provision of easy and secured access to advanced and real-time reports from DMS interface.
• System integrators, with aDMS-BI integration that is developed using the robust and leading LogicalDOC and BIRT technologies, for the quick ramping up projects and conceptual proofs.

Eric Robinson, a LogicalDOC client and IT Project Manager at Sheet Metal Workers Local 104, says, "Our law firm makes use of LogicalDOC Enterprise for almost one year to manage legal knowledge. We are impressed with the ease of using LogicalDOC Enterprise and also its intuitive enterprise, which has immensely added to its prompt acceptance by our team. The quick saving and accessing of documents in our database through the Office Add-in, without having to use a web browser is one major feature that we so much appreciate. In addition, we are happy to know that this solution can be used to design and make our custom reports have totally control over our sensitive documents repository."

LogicalDOC Enterprise Edition contains the LogicalDOC-BIRT Integration package.
