

Runaway Popularity Of Blackhead Remover Kit on Amazon Leads To New Manufacturing Push

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, November 4, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Los Angeles, CA - This week the creator of the Aotearoa Blackhead and Blemish Remover Kit announced sales have been so brisk that a big re-order was placed with manufacturers. The kit includes surgical style stainless steel tools normally found in the offices of dermatologists and acne treatment clinics.

"Our Blackhead and Blemish Remover Kit is a runaway best seller on Amazon. We couldn't keep them in stock. We just received a major new shipment from our factory. So once again the kit is available to consumers," said Neil MacKenzie, founder of Aotearoa Beauty.

The kit features 5 professional tools that include blackhead remover, comedone extractor, pimple extractor and more. One of the chief advantages of using stainless steel tools are the benefits of better sanitation.

"If you squeeze a pimple the bacteria on your fingers gets into the open sore. You can easily get an infection that leads to a much worse blemish and even permanent scars. Our Blackhead and Blemish Remover kit is the safe way to extract all types of blackheads, pimples, and comedones," MacKenzie said.

Remover Kit includes an attractive leather case. It serves to safely carry and store the tools. Each of the 5 tools has a double end. The stainless steel never rusts and is easy to sterilize. Doctors recommend dipping or swabbing the tool in rubbing alcohol for effective sterilization.

The kit's hundreds of reviewers on Amazon extol the virtues of the blackhead remover tools. Many are impressed with the professional quality of the tools while others say they are essential in modern life. Some have noticed they are just like the tools used at spas and by physicians.

Others are buying several kits to give as gifts this holiday season. "Now that we have a fresh new supply of kits, it's time to stock up," MacKenzie said.
