

Eton Institute Promotes Cultural Awareness In the Word's Most Multilingual City

Eton Institute connects the world with its very own Speaking Cultures, allowing different cultures to exchange their native tongues in New York City

NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, November 11, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Taking place on the 19th of November in the relaxed and cozy atmosphere of Caffebene in Midtown, Speaking Cultures is a popular social event that will immerse you in the beautiful cultures and colorful traditions of different world languages. This event is the perfect venue for people to learn about different cultures while sharing stories and conversations amongst language enthusiasts. Eton Institute, a leading international language and professional development training provider, will offer numerous opportunities for attendees to experience different cultures and be able to practice languages of their choice from around the world.

"Learning a foreign language is beneficial in many ways. It not only breaks down communication barriers, it also gives one a deeper understanding of foreign cultures, traditions and the opportunity to see the world in a different perspective. We are delighted to host Speaking Cultures because it closely aligns with our mission of promoting language diversity and tolerance through communication and education," commented Eric Schwartz, Business Development Manager at Eton Institute.

Speaking Cultures is hosted several times per year to encourage and facilitate language exchange within Manhattan's multicultural community. Participation at the event is free and is open to the general public.
