

Air Cleaner Manufacturer Focal Point of China Green Building Conference: Demonstration Building

HealthWay partners with P+ Design group to equip air cleaners in the The WGBZ Demonstration Building in Wujin District, Changzhou City, Jiangsu Province.

PULASKI, NEW YORK, USA, November 18, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As China continues to develop, Green Building Technologies are becoming the norm. The most influential conference held in this field of study, the Eighth International Green Building Conference of Jiangsu Province will be held November 26th and 27th in Wujin District, Changzhou City, Jiangsu Province. The conference, organized by the Jiangsu Provincial Housing and Architecture Bureau, Jiangsu Province Government and the Housing and Architecture Technology and Development Center will discuss green building technologies and materials.

In conjunction with the International Green Building Conference, P+ China will be holding their opening ceremony for the P+ Demonstration Building. The State of the Art Demonstration building focuses on energy efficiency and sustainability.

P+ Design Group has partnered with HealthWay, the global leader in air purification to equip the Demonstration Building with 3 HealthWay commercial air cleaning units. All of HealthWay's commercial products are made in the USA with patented DFS technology that has been proven to capture 99.99% of ultrafine particles down to .007 micron in size, which is 40 times more efficient than HEPA filters.

Vinny Lobdell, HealthWay President stated, "This partnership represents an awareness that as we move towards more green and sustainable buildings and environments there's an increased challenge with healthy indoor air quality. We are proud to tackle this challenge with P+ and the Chinese Government."

Indoor Air Quality is now the number one health risk according to the World Health Organization (WHO). HealthWay's full line of "Made in America" commercial air cleaners provides the most comprehensive protection available from harmful indoor air pollution. As buildings become more energy-efficient with Green Technologies, there is an increase in the danger of trapping pollutants inside. Maintaining filtered air circulation is critical not only to the health but also to the productivity of the occupants.

When it matters most industry leaders such as the Cleveland Clinic, VA Medical Centers, Shriners Hospitals, BMW and Hilton Hotels have all chosen HealthWay to ensure they are breathing the cleanest air available.
