

Helping Our Young Stay Safe on the Roads this Winter

The tire accessories company TravelSafer announces the recent success surrounding their new digital tire pressure gauge online.

LOS ANGELES, UNITED STATES, November 23, 2015 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Since TravelSafer officially released their tire pressure gauge online earlier this year, they have seen a remarkable growth in sales on Amazon. The digital tire pressure gauge is said to be one of the most accurate and robust available through the online marketplace. With over 450 five-star customer reviews and counting, it would appear that TravelSafer has delivered a popular product.

When asked of the company's recent online success, a TravelSafer spokesperson said, "Our engineers have worked hard to produce a tire pressure gauge that is both practical and unique for our customers. With an illuminated nozzle and LCD screen, this gauge can be used by anyone regardless of the time of day."

"Young drivers are often less familiar with the vehicles they are driving and don't realise the risks of low tire pressures particularly when cornering. Tire problems in the pre-crash phase are more significant than chance. It is likely that inexperienced drivers and drivers not familiar with the vehicles they are driving pay less attention to tires and tire pressure. To rectify the problem, TravelSafer has produced a digital tire pressure gauge that has become popular amongst our young because it is simple and quick to use."

The TravelSafer digital tire gauge can quickly check the tire pressure on any vehicle (cars, trucks, motorcycles and bicycles) during night or day. Since the product includes lithium batteries and built-in battery saving features, it can be used directly out of the box. Users can switch between four measuring ranges and easily use the illuminated tire nozzle and display screen. The tire gauge is compact enough to fit inside a glovebox but sturdy enough to depend on it for the long haul.

Make the TravelSafer digital tire pressure gauge that perfect gift for your teenage son or daughter this festive season.
